JACKSON, MS - Women's March has announced plans to host its annual mobilization on January 18, 2020 in Washington, D.C. After three years of marching, three years of training, and three years of building political power, the Women's March is launching into its fourth chapter with a fresh face, renewed energy, and a plan to build with a growing community of activists including in Jackson, MS The Womanist Alliance announces a Women's March in in coordination with sister marches in cities and communities across the country. The march in Jackson is one of hundreds happening nationwide on January 18, 2020.

"On January 18, people from around the country will unite in Washington, DC, to finish what we started," said, Talamieka Brice, a spokesperson for the Womanist Alliance. "In Jackson we have been pushing for policies in defense of urgent issues that impact women's lives. We're taking to the streets in solidarity with our sisters in DC.

In 2020, Women's March groups across the country, will continue to lead the fight against Trump but we will also keep building with budding and veteran activists to secure our reproductive rights, to keep immigrant families safe, and to preserve our planet for future generations to come

"The most pressing issues of our time were brought to light by women," said Talamieka Brice "In 2020 we will continue to play a pivotal role here in Jackson and nationwide, in facing those issues head on taking the power back."
